

For a stimulating holiday experience or any other time you're in Las Vegas, consider becoming a lion tamer. Think of the fantastic photos and video you can send to the folks back home proving what a super brave senior citizen you are!

There are two options. A $20 fee per person gets you a four-hour visit. Additionally, the Lion Habitat Ranch offers a four-day, $800 program for lion lovers to immerse themselves in the day-to-day duties of big cat care. Participants age 18 and above prepare food, clean cages, bathe, hand feed, and work with lions in training pens alongside experienced trainers.

Video and photo options are available at additional cost. Advanced training is available for qualified applicants. The facility is located at 382 Bruner Av., Henderson NV, a nearby suburb of Las Vegas. For more information and to apply online, go to lionhabitatranch.com
