

Single seniors on a journey through the Italian capital city should set aside time to experience the romantic outdoor stairway. Since 1725, the 135 stone steps have inspired tourists as one of Rome's most visited attractions.

The area also brings Romans of all genders and ages to hang out. Many are there for various reasons, from peddling wares to looking for romance. Therefore, if you're a single wandering senior roaming in Rome, consider climbing the Spanish Steps. You may just encounter local lookalikes of Sophia Loren or Marcello Mastroianni.
