

While touring the friendly town, pay your respects with a free visit to Dublin's favorite son, Oscar Wilde, in Merrion Square's beautiful Iveagh Gardens. He's facing across from his former home at 1 Merrion Square. Be sure to get there in daylight, because the park's iron gates slam shut at dusk.