

When visiting LA, spend a night to scope out the stars from the beautiful Griffith Observatory. Parking, admission to the building and access to the telescopes are free.

Of course, you can still see stars during the day — the human ones from the movies and TV, that is. Spend the day in nearby Hollywood, Beverly Hills or Santa Monica beaches. Then keep an eye out for your favorite celestial celebrities who frequent local restaurants and clubs.