

The exhibit, called Campaigns of Courage, is now open to visitors at the National World War II Museum. When entering, visitors will be given an electronic device called the Dog Tag Experience.

As they view the various galleries, they'll hear and see virtual 1944 and 1945 combat in Europe as narrated by veterans of that historic era. For more info, go to www.nationalww2museum.org