

Of course, the research was done thoroughly, and the listed eateries serve fine food. However, we beg to differ because not one on the list is a U.S. airport. Of course, the hurry-up atmosphere in and around most American terminals doesn't always make for fine dining, but surely at least one should have made the top 15 list.

Here's the USA Today world airport list in rank order: Tokyo Narita, Taiwan Taiyuan, China Hong Kong, Singapore Changi, Amsterdam Schipol, London Gatwick, Sydney Kingsford-Smith, Madrid Suarez, Germany Munich, London Heathrow, Germany Frankfurt, Toronto Pierson, Paris De Gaulle, Barcelona El Prat, Rome Da Vinci.

Ok, they're fine places to dine, but what about San Francisco International, Baltimore-Washington International, Chicago O'Hare, Los Angeles International, Long Beach CA and Boston Logan? Check out the many xlnT restaurants at those American airports.
