

Your travel4seniors.com editor has enjoyed flying SW for more than 50 years. And one airborne ritual has always been trying to pry open those little foil bags to get the few peanuts inside.

Now, because of frequent problems by passengers who are allergic to peanuts, SW won't ever serve them again. Of course, there will be other, allergy-free snacks available, hopefully easier to unwrap.

www.cnn.com/travel/article/southwest-airlines-no-more-peanuts/index