

International Airlines Group (IAG), mommy of British Airways, has created a new budget carrier, named Level. It's now in competition with other bargain airlines, including Norwegian and WOW Air.

That come-on price for a Los Angeles to Barcelona flight is just one of the many schedules that are now available on Level for budget-minded flyers. For latest info, check with your travel agent or go to www.britishairways.com