

The 50 Best Restaurants Academy declared Eleven Madison Park at the top of the list. Of course, it has no competition from Wendy's or McDonald's, but there are many restaurants in Paris, Rome, Amsterdam, Tokyo and other locations that also boast great eateries.

If your next New York visit includes dining at Eleven Madison Park, be sure to try one of its yummy specialties, the delicious celery root cooked in a pig's bladder. And, by the way, bring lots of money. The average price per meal is $145, plus tax, plus tip.
