

Your travel4seniors.com editor enjoys visits to hotels that historically had other identities, such as former jails, palaces and millionaire mansions. The new LINE DC originally was a house of worship, and offers stunning views of nearby city architecture, including the Washington Monument.

Today it features 220 comfy guest rooms with vintage furnishings, six distinctive dining and drinking facilities, and contemporary internet and broadcast outlets. A Rake's Bar offers products of local distillers and brewers. Other dining and drinking areas include The Cup We All Race 4, Brothers and Sisters and Spoken English. www.thelinehotel.com/dc
