

And it's not falling down! Scheduled to be demolished, the famed 1831 structure that once spanned the Thames was brought block by block to the Mojave Desert town in 1967. It's now a favorite tourist and boating attraction over the Colorado River.