

Now that your travel4seniors.com editor is in my 90s, I often think about the possibilities of time travel. When and where would I choose if I could do it with the knowledge I have now? Let's just consider a few of the options:

Garden of Eden lunch with Adam and Eve, followed by apple pie dessert.

Sail with Chris Columbus and be the first to shout, "Land ho!"

Cross the Delaware with Washington, then to an Atlantic City casino.

With Lincoln at Gettysburg, followed by a fab Pennsylvania Dutch lunch.

Hey, senior wanderer: If you could go back and choose some exciting historical, what would you choose?
