

Remember the old days when you boarded your long cross-country flight dragging a big stack of magazines? They were necessary to pass the long hours by reading.

Of course, during these days and nights in the air your Smartphone can provide lots of movies, music and publications. For much more reading material, and if you're a frequent flyer and want access to more than 200 magazines, take Texture with you.

Just a few of the publications include Sunset, National Geographic and Southern Living. Subscriptions start at about $10 a month, and the software is compatible with IOS 8.0, iPhone, iPad, iPod Touch, Android and Amazon 4.1 and higher. There's a free one-month trial period offered to subscribers. For enrollment and more info, go to texture.com
